

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Since 1865 I have been collecting the records of the Bidwell Family for this work. At first I thought only of my own direct ancestors, but in obtaining information of them I became acquainted with many of the name and all seemed interested in their genealogy, so concluded to trace all the descendants of John Bidwell the emigrant, that could be found. With this object in view have examined many volumes of books, hundreds of volumes of town, probate, church and other records, and have when possible, called upon different families and talked with the older members, but the family being so scattered, most of the records of the four latest generations have been collected by correspondence. The record is very far from being complete but it had become bulky and difficult to manage in the manuscript and all seemed anxious to have it printed, as it is, I would esteem it a favor if all who detect the slightest error or omission will let me know of it, as I shall still endeavor to make it more complete and may publish a supplement.

Many wonder why I should spend so much time and money upon a record of this kind and have thought I must be working to obtain some long forgotten property ; and a few have refused to send any information on this account, as I could not convince them to the contrary. I can only say that at first this work was taken up without any knowledge of its magnitude, that it was done as a pastime during vacations from business and that I probably inherited a liking for work of this kind. All are interested in preserving the history and records of their ancestors, in knowing how they lived, what their occupations were and other facts about them ; the eldest of each family delight in relating to children and grandchildren incidents that occurred to them, their parents or grandparents, and these incidents are carefully remembered for several generations but are at last forgotten. For the purpose of preserving these incidents and more especially the dates of births, marriages and deaths, this record has been published.

BIDWELLS IN ENGLAND.

The Saxon name was Biddulph, meaning War Wolf; one of the oldest castles is the Biddulph castle in Norfolk Co., England; it was built about 1066, and tradition says one of William the Conqueror's generals married the Biddulph heiress of that time and assumed her name. From Biddulph the following names are derived: Bedewelle, Bydewell, Bidewell, Bidwell, Bedwell, Bidwill, Bidwelle, Bidle, Biddle, Bidel, Biddel, Biddell, Biddol, Biddoll and Biddulps; Bedell may also have come from Biddulph. Those now in use seem to be Bidwell, Bedwell, Biddle and Biddulph. The only means of tracing the name in England has been from English histories in libraries here, but I have concluded that Norfolk county is where the name originated; therefore give brief extract of history of Thetford of this county by Bloomfield. "Tedford, Tetford, Tefford, Theford and Thetford, as it is now called was formerly a place of great renown and now to be taken notice of by its great antiquity — meaning the ford or the inlet into Norfolk. It was first settled by the Gauls about fifty years B. C., and taken by the Romans under Claudius in 46 A. D. At that time Norfolk Co., was known as the country of the Icenii. In the year 435 A. D., the Romans were exported by Gallio for the service of France and having buried their treasures and bereft Britain of her youth by frequent musters, they left her incapable of defense and a prey to the Picts and Scots. In 866 the chief Danish army wintered at Thetford, having been thirty years or more in obtaining a foothold on the island, and so terrified the inhabitants that they made peace with them. The English drove the Danes out and took possession of Thetford in 925 after twenty years hard fighting and held the place until 991, when the Danes again came across the channel and after subduing part of the island, collected £16,000 as a condition of their leaving it in peace. The next year the English were compelled to pay £20,000, and after that the amount increased every year until it reached £40,000. When the English rebelled and after fighting seven years were subdued and remained under Danish rule until 1042, when Edward, surnamed the Confessor, came from Normandy and was elected King." In 1400 Sir Wm. Berdewelle is mentioned as having given a legacy, etc. In 1426 lands were let at Gasthorp to Robert Berdewelle, Esq., at 20 shillings per annum. Mr. Thomas Bidwell is mentioned as an alderman and ex-mayor of Thetford.

Rose's Biographical Dictionary, vol. 3, has the following: "Wm. Bedwell, a learned divine and topographical writer of the reign of James 1st. He was concerned in the revised translation of the Scriptures, published in that reign. He was educated in the University of Cambridge and Fuller thinks (Church History, book 10, page 45) that he was at St. John's College. He took orders and had the living of St. Ethelburgh in the city of London, conferred on him in 1601, and was made vicar of Tottenham in 1607. He died 5 May, 1632, at the age of 70 and is buried in the church at Tottenham with an epitaph which still remains, in which it is said that 'he was one of King James' translators of the Bible; and for the eastern tongues as learned a man as most who lived in these modern times.'" He published "Kalendanium Viatorium Generale or The Traveller's Callender; serving generally for all parts of the world, 8vo., 1614." "Mohammedis Impostman, whereunto is annexed the Arabian Tredgman V. to 1615." "A brief description of the Town of Tottenham High Cross in Middlesex; 4to, 1631." In this last work is given a copy of a very ancient ballad "The Tournament of Tottenham" which was printed also in Percy's Reliques of Ancient English Poetry. Bedwell printed the ballad from a manuscript in possession of Geo. Wither the poet, which manuscript containing the earliest copy known of this singular ballad, is now in the public library at Cambridge and Mr. Wright who ascertained the identity has lately given from it a more authentic copy than that of Bedwells. Wood speaks of Bedwell as the only person in England of his time who understood Arabic and Mr. Gough says he translated the Koran into English. He was an early friend and patron of Henry Jacob who was also noted for his Oriental studies. The Album of Bedwell was in the collection of manuscripts made in the early part of the last century by Dr. Maero. R. A. Davenport in Dictionary of Biography, page 77, gives the following: "William Bedell a divine eminent for piety, learning and benevolence, was born at Black Notty in Essex, England, educated in Cambridge, and travelled into Italy, where he became the friend of the celebrated Father Paul. After his return to England he obtained church preferment, and in 1629 was made bishop of Kilmore in Ireland; he held that See till the breaking out of the rebellion when he was ejected, but was not injured, his virtues having acquired universal esteem; he died in 1641. The rebels fired a volley over his grave in honor of him and exclaimed 'May the last of the English rest in peace.' '

FIRST GENERATION.

1 RICHARD BIDWELL, d. 25 Dec., 1647. He was an early settler at Windsor, Conn., and is called Goodman Bidwell in records.

Children :

2 John. d. 1687.

3 Hannah, b. 22 Oct., 1644<sup>34</sup> m. 1648 John, son of Richard.

4 Joseph.

5 Samuel.

6 Richard.

I have found no evidence as yet that John, Joseph and Samuel were sons of Richard, but shall think so until records are found that prove the contrary. Extract from History of the Settlement of Windsor, Conn. "In 1630 not less than 17 ships arrived in Massachusetts Bay, bringing some 1500 or 1700 emigrants. Dorchester, Watertown, Roxbury, Medford and Weymouth were rapidly settled by the new comers. Foremost among these colonies of 1630 both as regards the character of its members and the date of its arrival, was the one which settled at Dorchester and afterwards removed to Windsor, Conn. It had been formed mostly from the western counties of England early in the spring of 1629, by the exertion of the Rev. John White, of Dorchester, whose zeal and labors fairly entitle him to the appellation of the great patron of New England emigration." Great pains were taken to construct this company of such materials as should compose a well ordered settlement, containing all the elements of an independent community. Two devoted ministers, Messrs. Maverick and Wareham were selected, not only with a view to the spiritual welfare of the plantation, but especially that their efforts might bring the Indians to the knowledge of the gospel. Two members of the government chosen by the freemen or stockholders of the company in London assistants or directors, Messrs. Rosseter and Ludlow, men of character and education, were joined to the association that their counsel and judgment might aid in preserving order and founding the social structure upon the surest basis. Several gentlemen past middle life with adult families and good estate were added. But a large portion of active, well trained young men either just married or without families, were the persons upon whom the severe trials of a new settlement were expected to devolve. On the 20th March, 1630, this company of 140 persons embarked at Plymouth, Eng., in the ship called the Mary and John, a vessel of 400 tons burden and commanded by Capt. Squeb. On the Lord's day 30 May, 1630, their good ship came to anchor on the New England coast. Their destination was the Charles river but an unfortunate misunderstanding which arose between the captain and his passengers resulted in the latter being put ashore at Nantasket now Hull, where they were obliged to shift for themselves as best they could. Ten of the male passengers setting off in a boat in search of the promised land, reached Charlestown neck where they were kindly received by an old planter who gave them a dinner of "fish without bread." Thus scantily refreshed they passed up the Charles river to what is now Watertown; here they passed two or three days, when they returned to the main part of the company who had found a good pasture ground for their cattle at Mattapan, now known as Dorchester Neck or South Boston. Their settlement was named Dorchester in honor of the Rev. Mr. White of Dorchester, Eng., which had also been the home of several of their number. Shortly after their arrival they were threatened with famine, during this time they obtained corn from the Indians in trade for trinkets; ships also arrived from Holland, Ireland and Virginia. In 1631 Wahquimacut a Connecticut river sachem, visited Boston and Plymouth and tried very hard to induce the English to make a settlement upon the Connecticut river, but without success. In September, 1631, John Oldham with three others from Dorchester travelled to Connecticut and were kindly received by the chiefs who gave them a valuable present of beaver skins. In the fall of 1633 the Plymouth trading company sent out a large new bark in charge of Mr. Holmes; he had on board the frame of a house and materials for its erection; sailing up the Connecticut he suddenly found himself under the guns of a Dutch ford or Hartford, called the house of Good Hope. The Dutch ordered him to stop, but he proceeded on his way to a place just below the mouth of the Tunxis or Farmington river in the present town of Windsor, where he erected the house and fortified it at once with palisades. This was the first house built by the English in Connecticut. It stood about two miles south-east of the 1st Congregational church on the river bank, about 20 rods from the point of land extending down the river near the western shore. The Dutch protested against their occupation of the land but Holmes paid no attention to it. In the early part of Nov., 1633, Hall and two companions from Massachusetts visited Connecticut for the purpose of trade, but found the Indians suffering so severely from small pox that they were unable to do anything; they therefore returned Jan., 1634. Hall and Oldham acquainted the Dorchester settlers of the rich bottom lands of the Connecticut and their land being so barren and rocky they resolved to move. In June, 1635, a company of Dorchester men set out for the Connecticut river to select a location and make preparations for a settlement. Upon 15 Oct., 1635, about 60 men, women and children set forth from Dorchester for Connecticut, their furniture, etc., was sent around by water. The compass was their only guide through the wilderness and encumbered as they were the trip took two weeks. After their arrival the provisions gave out and they were forced to start for Massachusetts through the woods and by water. Seventy went by water and reached Massachusetts in five days almost starved. Thirteen started through the woods and reached Massachusetts Bay after ten days; the remainder, who staid during the winter at Windsor lived upon acorns, grain, etc. Early in March, 1636, Connecticut was set apart as a colony under a commission granted by the general court of Massachusetts. Upon the 16 April, 1636, the survivors of the company returned to Connecticut. Their settlement was called Dorchester and name changed to Windsor 1637, from Windsor, Eng.

Extract from History of Settlement of Hartford, Conn. :

On the 15 Oct., 1635, the colony left Boston with their horses, cattle and swine and commenced their journey through the wilderness to the Connecticut river. After a tedious and difficult march through the swamp and rivers and over mountains and rough ground; they arrived safely at their destination; but they had lost so much time in passing rivers, etc., that winter was upon them before they were prepared. By the 15 Nov., the cold was so intense that the river was frozen over and the snow very deep. By the 1st Dec., the provisions gave out and famine and death stared them in the face. Some started through the wilderness for Boston, but the greater number upon the 3 Dec., took passage on the Rebecca, a vessel of 60 tons, but she ran aground on the bar at the mouth of the river and they were obliged to unload to get her off. After this they reached Boston in five days. Those that remained at Hartford just managed to keep from starving by the help of the Indians and eating acorns, etc. Hartford was called by the Indians Suckiage; by the Dutch on the point in 1633 the Huise (or House) of Good Hope; and by the English on their arrival to form a settlement in 1636 Newtown. This was changed to Hartford by the court 21 Feby., 1636.

SECOND GENERATION.

2 JOHN BIDWELL, d. 1687 ; m. Sarah Wilcox, d. 15 June, 1690. She was a daughter of John Wilcox.

Children :

- 7 John, b. about 1641 ; d. 3 July, 1692.

John Wilcox d. before Oct., 1666, his wife was Mary. John Bidwell was sole executor of his mother-in-law ; her will dated Hartford, 4 March, 1668-9.

He was an early settler at Hartford and had four acres of land allotted him in the division of lands there in 1639. In 1640 he had a house lot north of Mary Betts, south of Seth Grant and west of John Skinner on the east side of Trumbull street near Pearl in Hartford. He owned a ran yard on an island in Little river, in what is now Bushnell's Park, south of Nathaniel Richards' house lot in 1640. In 1666 he had land allotted him at East Hartford ; his name is upon the monument erected in memory of the first settlers at Hartford. He was, 9 Nov., 1670, "freed from Training, Watching and Wardeing by the town of Hartford," see page 102, vol. 3, of Probate Records at office of Secretary of State, Hartford. From the original records of the 2d or Centre street church, I find that John and his wife Sarah were original members, date Feb., 1672. Colonial Records of Connecticut, 1665 to 1677, page 111 : At the court held at Hartford, 13 May, 1669, "It being granted to Joseph Bull and John Bidwell the sum of 200 acres of land in the next commons to the place where their Saw Mill stands, with liberty to take timber out of the common for the improvement of their saw mill as their need shall require." Same records, page 518 : In a list of the free-men of Hartford on the north side of the (Little?) river taken 13 Oct., 1669, John Bidwell, Sr., is mentioned.

Same page: John Bidwell, plaintiff, contra Joseph Butlar, defendant. In an action of debt due by Butlar and accounts to the value of £18 upon attachment, withdrawn in court. Vol. 4, page 133, Probate Records of Hartford, 1 Sept., 1687: An inventory of the estate of John, Sr., together with his last will and testament was exhibited in court, and oath made there unto by his relict and widow Pitkin and the court accepted the same and ordered it to be recorded.

John Bidwell last Will and Testament.

In the name of God Amen. I, John Bidwell of Hartford, in New England, being under some infirmity of body but of good memory and understanding considering my own fraylty and mortality, doe make this my last Will & Testament, hereby revoking and utterly nulling all other & former Wills & Testaments whatsoever.

Imp<sup>r</sup> I doe committ my spirit into the hands of God as my faythfull creato<sup>r</sup> hoping for salvation through the grace & merits of Christ Jesus my redeemer, and my body to comely christian Buriall at the discession of my Executors hereafter named, when the Lord shall pledge to put an end to my naturall life, & as for that portion of worldly goods which the Lord have been pleased to bestow on me. I doe dispose thereof in manner following :

First my will is that all my just debts & funerall charges be duely pay<sup>d</sup> & discharged, also my will is & I doe hereby bequeath unto my son John Biddoll & his heirs forever, my lott in the swamp on the east side Connecticutt River, being about two acres & a halfe lyeing between Thomas Bunce his land & the land of Goodman Easton, as also I doe give & confirme unto him & his heires forever all my lands & buildings & appurtenances of them whatsoever which lye or are in the Township of Hartford on the west side of Connecticutt River.

Allso I give unto my son Joseph Bidwell the sume of Thirty pounds in currant pay of this Colony, Twenty pounds thereof to be pay<sup>d</sup> within two years after my decease & Ten pounds to be pay<sup>d</sup> him for the use of his children after my wives decease.

Allso I give unto my sonn Samuel Bidwell Twenty pounds, Ten pounds in currant country pay to be pay<sup>d</sup> him within two years after my decease & Ten pounds in like pay to be pay<sup>d</sup> him for the use of his children after my wives decease.

Allso I give to each of my Two daughters Sarah House & Hannah Waddams Twenty pounds a piece to be pay<sup>d</sup> Ten pounds to each of them within Two years after my decease, & the other Ten pounds apiece to be pay<sup>d</sup> to them for the use of their children after the decease of my wife, all to be pay<sup>d</sup> in currant pay of this country.

Allso I give unto my daughter Mary Meekins the one halfe of my upper lott in the swamp, lyeing south of Ozais Goodwins land thereby & the other halfe of it I give to my Grand son John Meekins to be them & their heires forever. Onely my will is that my wife shall have the one halfe of that lot during her life, & that John Meekins shall not have the halfe of that lot unless he lives with me or my wife, untill he be Twenty years of age if myself or wife doe live soe long.

Allso my will is that my beloved wife Sarah Bidwell shall have all my household goods & stuffe whatsoever to be at her disspose forever & I doe moreover give her the one halfe part of all my Estate whatsoever that is not before disposed of both lands, houseing chattels, cattell or any other thing whatever it be, to be for her proper use dureing her naturall life & no longer & if it shall seem good to my say<sup>d</sup> wife at any time to leave that part of the houseing & lands & Cattell which I have given her dureing her life as before unto my son Daniel Bidwell then I doe give her eight pounds by the year out of the lands houseing & cattell to be pay<sup>d</sup> her in currant pay of this colony by my son Daniel Bidwell or whosoever enjoyeth the say<sup>d</sup> lands, houses, chattels & cattell.

Allso I doe give & bequeath the other halfe of my whole Estate not before disposed of both lands, houseing, chattels cattell & every other thing not before disposed of unto my say<sup>d</sup> son Daniel Bidwell & his heires forever, allso I doe in like maner give unto him his heires & assigns forever after the decease of my beloved wife, the other halfe of my Estate which was before given my wife for & during her naturall life.

Allso I doe hereby make my beloved wife Sarah Bidwell & my son Daniel Bidwell to be the Executors of this my last Will and Testament, & I doe desire my loving friend Mr. John Crow to be overseer of the same for confirmation & establishment, of all which I have hereunto put my hand & seal this tenth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and Eighty.

JOHN 2 BIDWELL & a seale.

Signed, sealed & declared by John Bidwell, Sen<sup>r</sup> to be his last Will & Testament before us WILLIAM PITKIN, JOSEPH OLMSTEED.

A Codicil to the last Will of John Bidwell before written. I, John Bidwell of Hartford though weak of body yet of competent memory doe farther as a part of my last will give & bequeath to my beloved wife Sarah Bidwell, besides what is given already in my will, two coves to be at her dispose at the time of her death or when she please.

Allso to my son John Bidwell I give foure acres of my meadow pasture on the south ende of it to begin his measure at the old ditch that parts Barthleme Barnards land from say<sup>d</sup> pasture & so to goe eastward as far as s<sup>d</sup> pasture reaches that way & from the south ende thereof northwards till foure acres be accomplished to him & his heirs forever, onely my wife shall have the use of halfe the s<sup>d</sup> foure acres during her naturall life & provided allso that my say<sup>d</sup> son doe pay Twenty-one pounds in currant country pay for the same that is to say Twenty shillings to the reverend Mr. John Whiting of Hartford which I bequeath to him & Twenty pounds to my son Joseph Bidwell or his heires, halfe of it at my decease & the other halfe at decease of my wife. Twenty pounds I doe bequeath to my son Joseph besides what is given him before in my will. Allso my will is that whereas I have before given Twenty pounds apiece to my daughter Sarah House & Hanah Waddoms my will is that my daughter House shall have Thirty pounds & my daughter Waddoms Ten pounds of the say<sup>d</sup> Forty pounds in regard of what I have already given my daughter Waddoms more than her sister & this Codicill I doe desire to be a true part & member of my last will to all intents & that nothing in the former will or part of my will shall any wayes weaken or make voyd the same. In witness whereof I have hereunto put my hand & seale this 22<sup>d</sup> day of August, 1683.

Glastenbury for 200 years by Chapin, page 129: John Bidwell, Jr., has the 1st Saw Mill at Glastenbury, 1667. He lived at Hartford, as his father willed him all his lands and buildings west of the Connecticut river. He had at Hartford, a saw, grist and fulling mill; six saw or grist mills, three at Hartford, and one each at East Hartford, Wethersfield and Middletown, he was an engineer and was selected by the town of Hartford, to deepen the channel in the Connecticut river between Hartford and Wethersfield. (Town Records of Hartford, 1686. The town by their vote made choice of major Talcott, Ensign Nathaniel Stanley, Mr. Cyprian Nichols and John Bidwell to consider the best way to make a channel in the river between this town and Wethersfield). He is buried at East Hartford and left an estate of £1081. His widow Sarah, in March, 1704, gave to her son John land on the east side of the Connecticut river and her son Thomas witnessed the deed. He and his wife Sarah were admitted to full communion at the 2d or Centre St. Church, Hartford, 21 Feb., 1685. Vol. 5, page 45 Hartford Co. Probate Records: "Mrs. Sarah (Wells) Bidwell was administrator of John Bidwell (her husband) deceased and Daniel Bidwell (her brother-in-law) was appointed by the court to oversee the children as they were all young."

In Colonial Records of Connecticut, between years 1678 and 1689, page 184, I find the following : Mrs. Sarah Haynes is plaintiff by way of appeale from the judgment of the Court of Assistants 3 Oct. 1685 ; contra John Allyn and John Bidwell defendants, which action was for their daming on land in Hartford belonging to the estate of Mr. Joseph Haines deceased & bequeathed to her by him during the nonage of his children ; whereby much fence of hers, corn & grass have been flooded & damnified & her land thereby layd open to her great wrong & damage to the removing of sayd dam or so much of it as is on sayd land and payment of £40 (pounds) damage in which action the Court found for the deft. cost of Court and the Court of Assistants, the Jury fownd for the plaintiff, Mrs. Haynes 30 shillings and cost of Court. In the action the Court findes for the plaintiff 20 shillings & cost of Courts & 10 shillings annually to be payd by the defendants, unto Mrs. Sarah Haines till the heirs be of age & the dam remains. Upon the question propounded by the plaintiff what is to be understood by those words in the Court order (and the dam remains) the Court declares that it be understood if the dam remaines so long which the defendants have liberty to doe if they see cause. Cost of all the Courts is £9. 5. 6. besides the Sectys dues this Court. Same Records from 1689-1706, page 85, year 1692 : The Court grants liberty to Mr. Thomas Welles (Father-in-law of John Bidwell) to pass over one acre & — roods of meadow to Mrs. Bidwell the relict of John Bidwell for the heirs of said John Bidwell. Page 337 : Oct. 1700, Liberty & full power is by this Assembly granted to Sarah Bidwell widdowe & relict of John Bidwell late of the town of Hartford deceased, to convey and confirme to John Marsh Jr., of the said town one certain parcell of land situate in said town containing about halfe an acre or less which the said John Bidwell bought of Thomas Long & also the one halfe part of a grist mill & of a Saw mill & fulling mill situate in Hartford aforesaid and whereof the said John Bidwell died seized. This liberty & power is granted to the said Sarah upon her petition and upon the petition of her eldest son John Bidwell and in consideration that the estate in the said Mills is in a wasting way, the Mill being much out of repair. Same Records, page 446 : October, 1703. Whereas this Court in May 1702, granted liberty to Mrs. Elizabeth Welles widdow to record a house & 12 acres of land which was exchanged with the legatees of Jonathan Welles unto her child and in May, 1703, Mrs. Sarah Bidwell appearing in Court obtained a bane of said record until this present session & this assembly having heard the allegations and pleas of said Mrs. Welles & Mrs. Bidwell doe see cause to grant a libertie to said Mrs. Elizabeth Welles to record said house & land to herselfe & the child of Joseph Welles her late husband always provided that what ever right Mrs. Sarah Bidwell or any other legatees hath in said house & land as legacies shall be paid by Mrs. Elizabeth Welles to said legatees. A court of Probate holden at Hartford for the County of Hartford 7 March 1708. Present John Eliot, Esq., Robert Wells Esq., & Joseph Talcott Esq., Justices. This Court grants letters of administration on the Estate & both the Estates of John Bidwell late of Hartford deceased and Sarah Bidwell, late widow and relict of the said John Bidwell also deceased jointly to John & Thomas Bidwell sons of the said deceased, provided they shall give bond as the law requires—and the Court do order that they do make a true and perfect Inventory of the said Estate, and exhibit the same in this Court on or before the first Monday of April next and also make and render an account of their administration to this Court on or before the first Monday of May, 1710, and they gave bond accordingly 7 March, 1708.

Children :

- 38 Thankful, b. Dec., 1695.

He m. 3d, Abigail ———; d. 8 March, 1733.

Children :

39 Moses, b. 9 Jan., 1699.

40 Abigail.

41 Hannah, d. 22 Aug., 1725.

The above are children mentioned in his will.

They lived at Middletown, Ct. ; Thankful his daughter was named in her grandfather Harris' will. He settled at Middletown as early as 1680, and is buried at the Riverside cemetery at Middletown. Middletown Town Records, vol. 1, page 81: 18 March, 1685, Samuel Bidwell sold land upon the east side of the river. He made his will 23 March, 1715, it is at Probate court Hartford, also Inventory, vol. 10, pages 31 and 175. Estate £1.00.6. He represented Middletown at the General Court at Hartford in January and October, 1697, May and October, 1698, October, 1703 and October 1705.

A Nathaniel Bidwell is mentioned as representing Middletown, Ct., at Hartford, at a General Court held May, 1696, but as there was no Bidwell of that name except a son of Samuel then only sixteen years old, and as Samuel served the next year and for several years after, he must have been meant. Colonial Records of Ct., 1706 to 1716, page 208: the above is mentioned as an executor of Capt. Daniel Harris' will, 5 May, 1712, (his father-in-law).

Vol. 8, page 253, Hartford Probate Records: Abigail Bidwell of Middletown, widow of Samuel Bidwell, presented the will of her late husband which was approved, etc. Extracts from Field's Cen. Ad., at Middletown, Nov., 1850, page 42: about May, 1860, the name of Samuel Bidwell first appears as a member of the Congregational church at Middletown.

Sketch of Portland, Ct.: In May, 1714, the first church was formed here and the society was called East Middletown, and was in Oct., 1767, named Chatham; among the petitioners were Samuel and Nathaniel Bidwell, and afterwards came John Penfield from Rhode Island. Public Rec. of Col. of Conn., page 208, Samuel Bidwell of Middletown, is mentioned.

10 SARAH BIDWELL, m. *Wm. House.Children :

- 42 William, bapt. 9 July, 1671.
- 43 John, bapt. 18 May, 1673.
- 44 Sarah, bapt. 18 April, 1675.
- 45 Mary, bapt. 13 May, 1677.
- 46 Amy, bapt. 23 March, 1680.
- 47 Hannah, bapt. 12 Feb., 1682.

I have no evidence that the above were the children of Sarah, but find from the records of the 2d or Centre st. church, Hartford, that she was in full communion there upon the 31st March, 1678, and the above children were bapt. in this church and they were the only ones of the name baptized.

11 HANNAH BIDWELL, m. *John Wadams.12 MARY BIDWELL, m. *Lt. John Makin.Children :

- 48 Thomas, bapt. 8 Oct., 1676.

- 52 Sarah, bapt. 19 April, 1674.
- 53 Samuel, bapt. 27 Aug., 1676.
- 54 Rebecca, bapt. 21 Aug., 1681.

They lived at East Hartford and are buried there by the side of Daniel Bidwell, her brother. The name is spelled Mekins. The children Sarah, Samuel and Rebecca, were bapt. at the 2d church, Hartford, Ct.

At the East Hartford cemetery I find the tombstone of Mrs. Mary Makins relict of Dea. Joseph Makins, who departed this life 22 April, 1804, in the 83d year of her age, and Dea. Joseph died 4 Sept., 1794, æ. 76. This Joseph is probably a grandson of John Makin and Mary Bidwell. He had land in 1666 at East Hartford. 18 acres allotted to Nich. Disbroe and sold by him to above. His son Samuel in March, 1731 is mentioned in Jos. O. Goodwin's History of East Hartford. He and Daniel Bidwell his brother-in-law, built a saw-mill at Burnside, 1690.

He and his brother, Thomas were administrators on their father and mother's estates.

It is related of him that, once worn out with overwork in a busy season, he fell asleep in his clattering saw mill and slept twenty-four hours, unconscious of the lapse of time. Awaking he saw the sun going down. He stopped his mill and started for home, at his grist mill he stopped and shouldered his grist and plodded home. Arriving there he was questioned in regard to his long absence and he was horrified to find his mill had been running all day Sunday, so he sat down with his Bible and passed the next twenty-four hours as piously as he thought he ought to have kept the preceding day.

Vol. 1, page 476, Hartford Town Records : Roger Pitkin gave to John Bidwell, upland on the east side of the Connecticut river "because of my natural love to my daughter Hannah Bidwell and for diver good reasons, etc., I give to my Son-in-Law John Bidwell." The following is from Zebulon Bidwell, a great-grandson as he remembered from his grandfather. Zebulon was æ. 94 in 1871, having been born in 1778. "John Bidwell built a saw and grist mill in East Hartford on Hockamun river, these mills were twice burned down by the Indians and the third time he rebuilt he took in a man by the name of Pitkin who owned one-third of the mills. He left these mills to his son John." I found this record, or part of it, in back of vol. 3, of Hartford Town Records. Amos Bidwell is mentioned in vol. 9, Town Records of Hartford from 1755 to 1760, also in vol. 10, from 1760-5, also in vol. 11, from 1762 to 1769; also in vol. 12 from 1767 to 70. Vol. 14, from 1773 to 85. He must have lived after 1783, as he is mentioned in Hartford Town Records, vol. 16 from 1783-86. Vol. 17, from 1786-90 he is mentioned in two places and his wife Phebe in one place; and vol. 18, from 1774 to 92 he is again mentioned and also Amos, Jr.; vol. 19 from 1792-95, he is again mentioned as having bought or sold some land in 1774. In vol. 18 from 1774 to 92, Phebe is mentioned showing her death to have been later than 1774.

Probably Susanna d. unm. I find her mentioned in vol. 28, Hartford Town Records for 1808.

Will of Daniel Bidwell.

In the name of God, Amen. Know Ye, That I Daniel Bidwell of Chatham, State of Connecticut and County of Middlesex, being of sound mind and memory, but under great infirmity of body, and calling to mind my immortality, do make and ordain this my last will & Testament, and also committing my body to decent Christian burial.

I bequeath and dispose of such worldly estate as it hath pleased God to bestow upon me in the following manner and form.

First. Unto my eldest son Benjamin Bidwell, I give in addition to what I have heretofore given him, only five shillings as his own forever.

Secondly. Unto my son John Bidwell, I give & bequeath as his own forever, he paying my lawful debts at the time of my decease : and the Debts against the estate of my son Josiah Bidwell deceased, which shall remain after the one half of the Stock, which he left at his decease, shall be applied to the payment of my said deceased sons debts, besides what I have this day given him by deed, the one half of the Home estate which now belongs to me in Quantity & Quality, and the one half of my Land which lies at a place called Stoney Swamp, which was not included in the deed of Gift, executed this day to my said son John Bidwell, also one Ox, one Mare & Colt, and two Cows together with the one half of my Farming utensils and household furniture, these to be his own forever, he paying the Debts aforesaid, and the hereafter named legacies. Thirdly, unto my daughters, Mary, wife of Josiah Griswold, Hannah, wife of John Smith, Sarah, wife of Abner Pelton, & Esther, wife of Abel Strickland, I give to each a Legacy of Ten pounds lawful money to be paid them by my son John Bidwell as abovesaid.

Fourthly unto the two children of my son Josiah Bidwell deceased, viz, Josiah and Demmis. I give and bequeath the one half of the Home estate now belonging to me, and the one half of my land at Stony Swamp not included in the Deed given to my son John Bidwell this day in the following manner, viz: two thirds to Josiah and the other third to Demmis, also I give to said Grandchildren the one half of my Farming utensils to be their own, my will is that in case either of my said Grandchildren should decease before he or shee shall arrive to lawful age, the other shall have the whole of the above bequests.

Fifthly. Unto my daughter in law, Lucinda, widow of my son Josiah Bidwell deceased, I give and bequeath as her own, my Brass Kittle, Porrage pot and Hand Irons, together with all the household furniture, which has been purchased since her marriage, together with the improvement of the interest above bequeathed to my grandchildren during her present Widowhood.

Finally. I do hereby appoint my son John Bidwell, Executor of this my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all former Wills Legacies & Bequests, declaring this to be my last Will & Testament. In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand & Seal this 13th day of December, A.D., 1790.

Signed, sealed, pronounced & declared to be the last Will & Testament of the said Daniel Bidwell, in presence of us,

- 474 Zebulon, b. 1777.

Zebulon removed from East Hartford, Ct., to Middlebury, Vt. He was in the Revolutionary war at N. Y., and at Yorktown, Va., at the surrender of Cornwallis. She was born at East Windsor, Ct., and was drowned in Otter Creek in Middlebury; she was out visiting and staid until evening, a boy was sent to light her home; he went on ahead, there was no railing to the bridge across Otter Creek and she walked off and was drowned. The boy went on to her house and as she did not come her family went to look for her. A light snow had fallen that evening so they could trace her footprints to where she walked off the bridge; they did not find her body until after midnight.

A curious monument to his son Wm., can be seen in the cemetery at East Hartford, it is as follows: In memory of Wm., son of the late Capt. Zebulon and Mrs. Mary Bidwell, who was stillborn soon after his Father's death (and perhaps quited Life at ye news thereof) who was killed in ye Northern Army, 20 Sept., 1777, in his 34th year.

“ Abroad from home in Earth's cold womb,
His body sleeping lies;
May we prepare to meet him where
Are everlasting joys.”

535 Lucy, b. July, 1792; d. aged 50 years.

536 Giles, b. June, 1796.

Frederick died unmarried. All the children but Martin died of consumption.

They lived and died on what is now called Burnside avenue, East Hartford, they lived near the fork of the road, between the Middle and Boston turnpike; his brother Ashbel lived east of his house; their houses were very queer looking with sharp roof, and diamond paned windows and between them stood a shop. He was something of a mathematician and difficult problems were sent him from all parts of the State; he would go up into his garret and work them out. He had a genealogical record in the shape of a tree. Neither Frederick, Lucy, or Giles married. The daughter Lucy, died at Hebron, Ct.; she had a record of the Bidwell family. Enodias, served in the Revolutionary War.

While in the woods one day with his gun he caught sight of an Indian crouching in the bushes, he held his gun at arm's length above his head and shouted. "I am Enodias Bidwell. I wont shoot if you wont," getting no reply he gathered courage and found the Indian had been dead many days. He owned Cotton's Tavern and store on the corner of Tolland Turnpike and Burnside ave., and probably this place descended to him from his father. Before railroads this was quite a station on the road.

Some of the East Hartford Bidwells were Ashbel, Rodolphus, Daniel, Moses, Russell, Jonathan, and John all living in rotation from Bidwell Lane, now Burnside avenue, to Scotland in East Hartford; also Deacon Bidwell, in East Hartford, Ct. The genealogical record I have never been able to find.

546 Lois, b. 22 May, 1772; d. 26 Dec., 1835.

547 Jasper, b. 1775; d. 1848.

Mrs. M. B. Barnes says of Thomas and wife. "To a man of straight forward honesty, energy and kindness, united with great plainness of speech; she was a most suitable companion, with great intelligence and correct judgment. She was well endowed; her tomb is beside that of her husband in the old Canton burying ground. The following is copied from his monument: "In memory of Deacon Thomas Bidwell, who departed this life 3 Dec., 1802, in the 64th year of his age. Unshaken in the great truth of the Gospel, in this he was as an iron pillar, and steadfast as a wall of brass; he lived and died in the confidence of his brethren. But though dead he yet speaketh to the church, to his family and to all who knew him."

"Thou tomb shall safe retain thy sacred trust,"

"Till life divine reanimate his dust."

He served during the Revolutionary War, as I find vol. 2 Militia Roll of Revolutionary War; at Hartford, that 24 Jan., 1778, he lost his baggage and collected from the State for it £1. 6. 2. and again in (E. Haskell's Receipt) Pay Rolls of Officers of the Militia from Connecticut in Revolutionary War, page 9; he is mentioned date 30 May, 1778, as Capt. Thomas Bidwell, in the Bennington Alarm list.

The son lived near Hudson, N. Y., on the west side of the river and after his grandfather's death went to Watertown, Conn., to claim some property left him by his grandfather, but he received nothing and went away and has not since been heard from.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Carrier says, "I have a little incident connected with the Mabels (mother and daughter) and my grandmother (Mrs. Sarah Belden Bidwell), so remarkable that I feel constrained to repeat it to you, I give it as related to me ten years ago by my oldest sister (Mrs. Caroline A. Brainerd), who stated our grandmother told it to her. When Aunt Mabel Caldwell died, she left little Mabel a mere infant, with our grandmother who was then sixty years old. At that time my father (Timothy Bidwell), was living in Coventry, N. Y., and grandmother was ready to go from Conn., to live with him. The distance 200 miles must be made on horseback. In order to accomplish this with her infant charge, she put the babe to her breast, which effort gradually brought back life sustenance for the babe. It was thus by nursing that the child was carried in her arms safe through that long tedious journey." The fact was a remarkable one but duly verified.

He was sixteen years old when he left home to seek his fortune, he said when he left that he would not come back until he could come in a coach and four. He went to 13th District, Robertson Co., Tenn., and upon his arrival had only fifty cents and no change of linen, he borrowed a shirt of an old hunter until the hunter's wife could wash his. This he often referred to afterwards and when the hunter became old and poor he furnished him a cabin free of rent as long as the hunter lived. He began work as a common laborer, educated himself and then taught school and ultimately began business for a large Nashville firm; then trading with New Orleans, he accumulated a handsome estate for his day and country, and died leaving his family in very comfortable circumstances. He did not join any church; was an active zealous whig, but never sought office. He served under Gen. Jackson and was at the battle of New Orleans as major of Tennessee militia. No one ever had greater influence in his county than he. For three years before his death he was paralyzed.

He was a Revolutionary soldier at Ticonderoga, N. Y. In August, 1787, he went to Vermont with Horace Kellogg to seek a home in the wilderness; they pitched a tent at what is now Starksboro then three miles from the nearest house and their only route was by marked trees. Here he cleared two acres and commenced a log house, then returned to Connecticut, and in February, 1788, took his family to his Vermont clearing; they arrived at Monkton (adjoining Starksboro) in March and found the snow so deep in the roads they could go no farther until it thawed; they had to cut a road two miles and build a bridge over Lewis' creek at their own expense, which lasted three years. He finished his house 7 April, 1788, and with two other families made that their home. He afterwards kept a public house for many years at his farm house, and Town meetings were held there for years. He was a man of sterling worth, by his industry he improved all the land he took up (several hundred acres). He was tall and well proportioned with keen black eyes and very active and industrious. He learned the coopers trade. His son George has a gun that he shot a Tory with in the Revolutionary war.
